

Causes:

- Britain's sudden effort to tighten control over the colonies and collect more revenue
- Global struggle with France drained the treasury; debt
- No taxation without representation

Goals:

- To become an Independent Nation
- To claim equal rights for all citizens and establish a meaningful rule of law
- To create a self governing system
- Although most of the goals were achieved many sacrificed their lives to accomplish them.

The American Revolution

Thesis:

The American Revolution was caused from colonists want to reorganize society and political system, which resulted in equal rights for citizens and their successful separation and independence from Britain.

Consequences:

- No english colonies
- Gained independence and separated from Britain
- Create a self governing political system
- There was more political participation
- End of Mercantilism

Changes:

- Politically there was a much higher participation of people in politics.
- The elite that had been running the colonies now had to gain the support of the common people.

Historical Thesis:

Although the American Revolution had many successful changes such as finding independence and separation from Britain, many social statuses stayed the same such as women's equality and slavery until almost 140 years later.

Continuities:

- Slavery was not fully abolished till years later.
- Women advocated for equal rights but didn't see any change for about 140 years.
- White men's lives didn't change much either because of their already established power.

MEHAPPY Thesis-

The American revolution was barely a revolution because the government didn't dramatically change afterwards and the social classes didn't see change for years.

In Congress, July 4, 1776

By: Thomas Jefferson

M- To express the social contract and the reasons why the King was an unjust ruler

E-States the ideas of the social contract

- The King's actions mark him as a Tyrant

H - Britain fought to become the strongest nation there were many conflicts between them and France leading to debt

A- The King of Great Britain, declaring their independence

P- Declare their independence and the reasons why

P- He was an advocate for the revolution and a strong social contract theory supporter, believing that people have the right to change the government if it is not protected the peoples rights

Y- This documents shows how the people put the social contract theory into play showing the beginning of a new nation